Inside Booklet

Let's talk business, & Girl.

As you know from being present at our most recent personal encounter, I am highly attendant to your every need. It is the sole reason that I have hand-crafted this exquisite musical mixture of which you are now my honored recipient. My selections have been carefully arranged to pleasure your every aspect during our magical evening together.

Let me break down our itinerary.

I will arrive at your door in a pure-white limousine. Upon arriving, I will not honk the horn. Instead, I will walk up the stairs of your apartment building and softly rap on your door. When the door opens, I will compliment you on your outfit and your hair.

Inside the limo, I will have available an assortment of only the finest champagnes purchasable from the best champagne stores in all of France. There will also be cranberry juice. If you wish, you can mix the two together.

Once I have properly served your desired refreshment, I will gently press the limo's meticulously customized surround sound system's Play button. I will then carefully adjust the volume to your individualized liking. Do not hesitate to request volume adjustments at any point during the evening. The easily-operated controls are situated conveniently at my fingertips.

I know by now that you are trembling with expectation of further details. However, you must not attempt to persuade me to reveal the many enjoyments I have planned for you. Until then, you are welcome to engage me in playful conversation whenever you have the wish. A personalized monthly plan allows Smoove unlimited minutes and text messaging. I have personally furnished you with my private number.

Smoove

IN CASE YOU'RE INTERESTED:

The title character, Smoove B (Love Man), is a mythical columnist for theonion.com. Paragraphs 3 and 4 of the letter above were excerpted from his August 21, 2002 column, "Let Smoove Take You Away". The remainder, which clearly pales in comparison, was produced by yours truly.
